

Abstract

The present invention relates to bitter-taste receptors and their role in bitter taste transduction. The invention also relates to assays for screening molecules that 5 modulate, e.g. suppress or block bitter taste transduction, or enhance bitter taste response.